

KOVI

FABRICS

MID CENTURY MODERN

VINTAGE VIBES

A Nod to Mod

Article by Brian Perry

Vintage VELVETS

DIY BEFORE & AFTER

Customer Creations

RETRO REPEATS

MID CENTURY MODERN BENCH SEAT EXCLUSIVE By Aimee Swikit

www.kovifabrics.com

IVOK

SCIRBFA

COVER PAGE

CONTENTS

VINTAGE VELVETS

BENCH SEAT DIY VIDEO BY AIMEE SWIKIT

RETRO REPEATS

A 'NOD TO MOD' ARTICLE BY BRIAN PERRY

DIY DONE! CUSTOMER CREATIONS

PILLOW PROGRAM

SWATCH PROGRAM

CONTACT US

E8316 LICHEN

E8276 ALPINE

K6262 BASIL

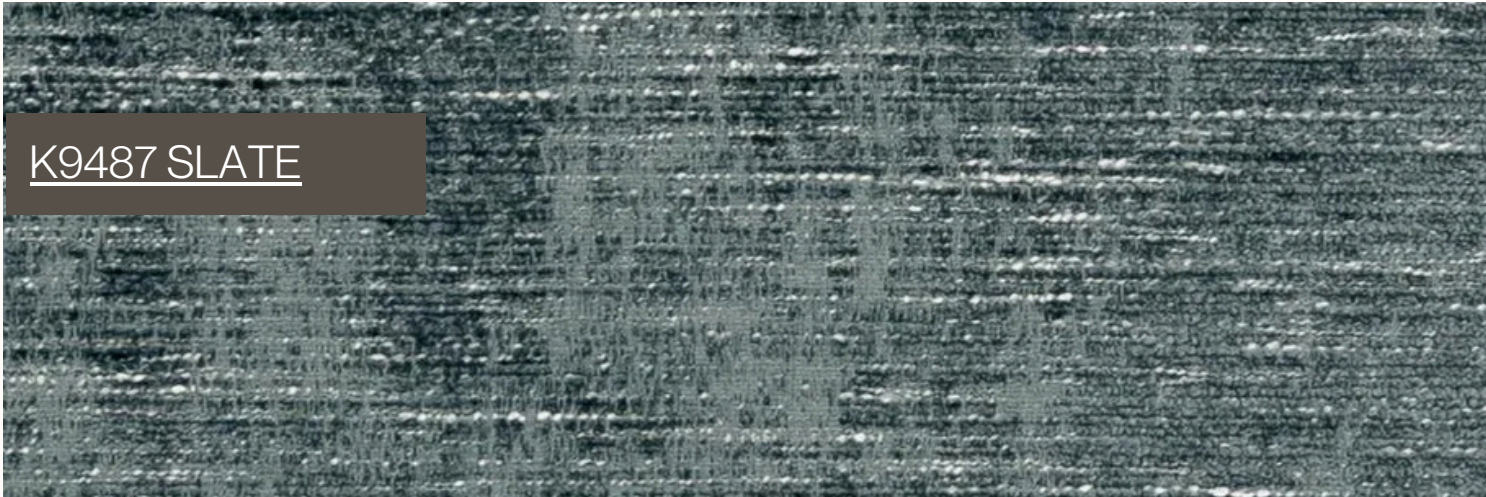

A close-up view of a fabric with a geometric pattern of vertical and horizontal stripes in shades of beige, cream, and dark teal. The pattern is composed of rectangular blocks of different colors and textures, creating a complex, layered effect.

E2210
SEAGLASS

A close-up view of a fabric with a subtle, textured pattern. The pattern consists of horizontal lines and small, irregular shapes in shades of light green, grey, and beige, giving it a natural, organic feel.

K9166 GLACIER

A close-up view of a fabric with a dark, textured pattern. The pattern is composed of horizontal lines and small, irregular shapes in shades of dark green, black, and grey, giving it a sophisticated, modern feel.

K9487 SLATE

E4840
CARBON

K5354 ONYX

K4973 PEWTER

E8498 COIN

K5354 ONYX

K6264 CAMEL

E8409 OLIVE

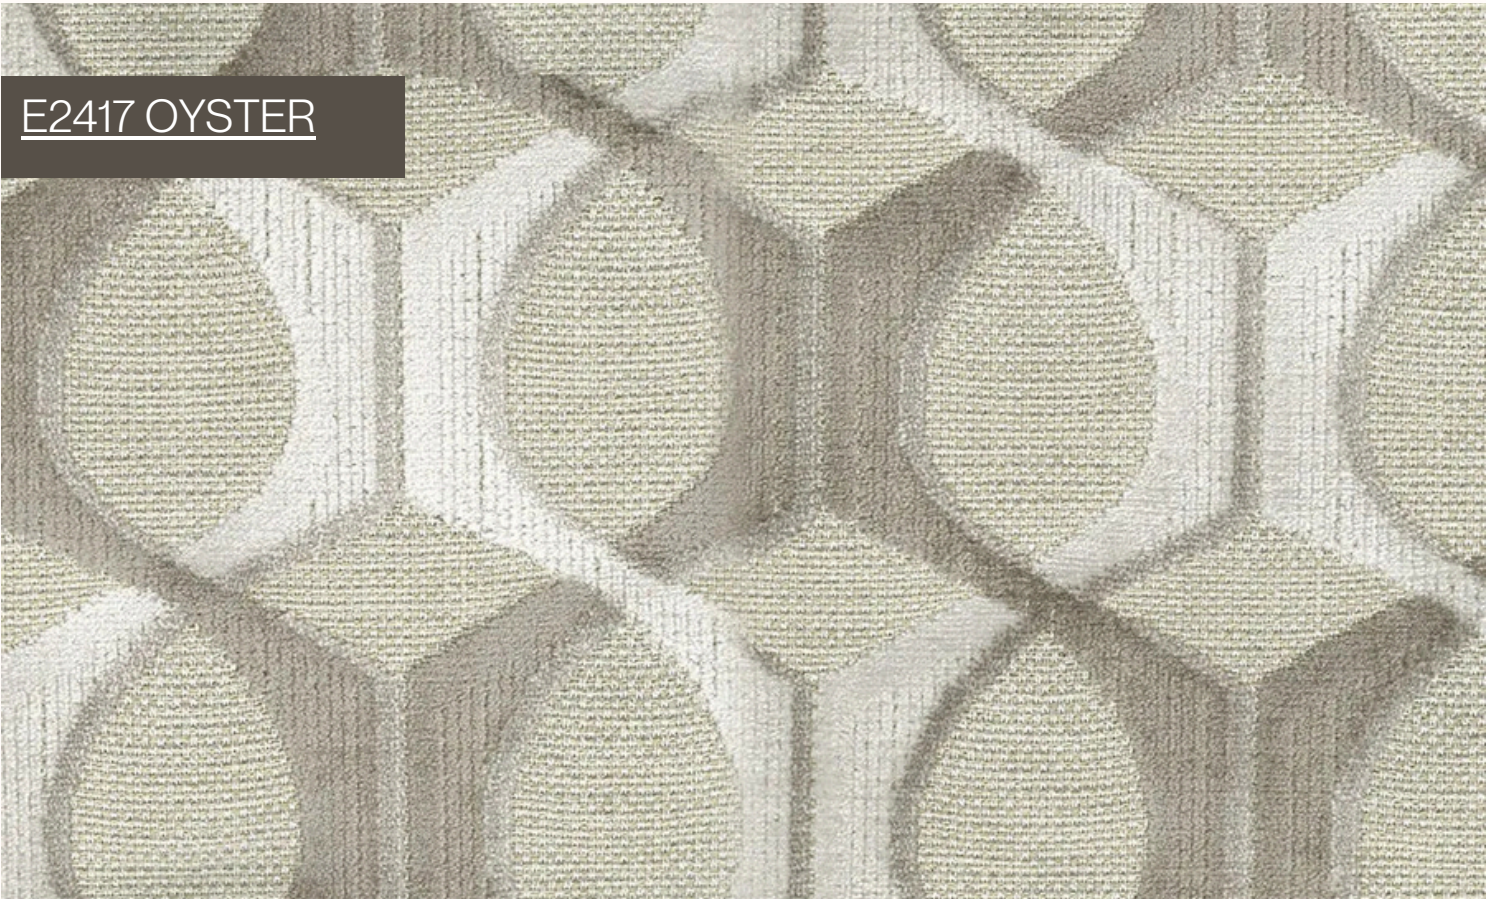

E5515 OCHRE

B4266 ARMY

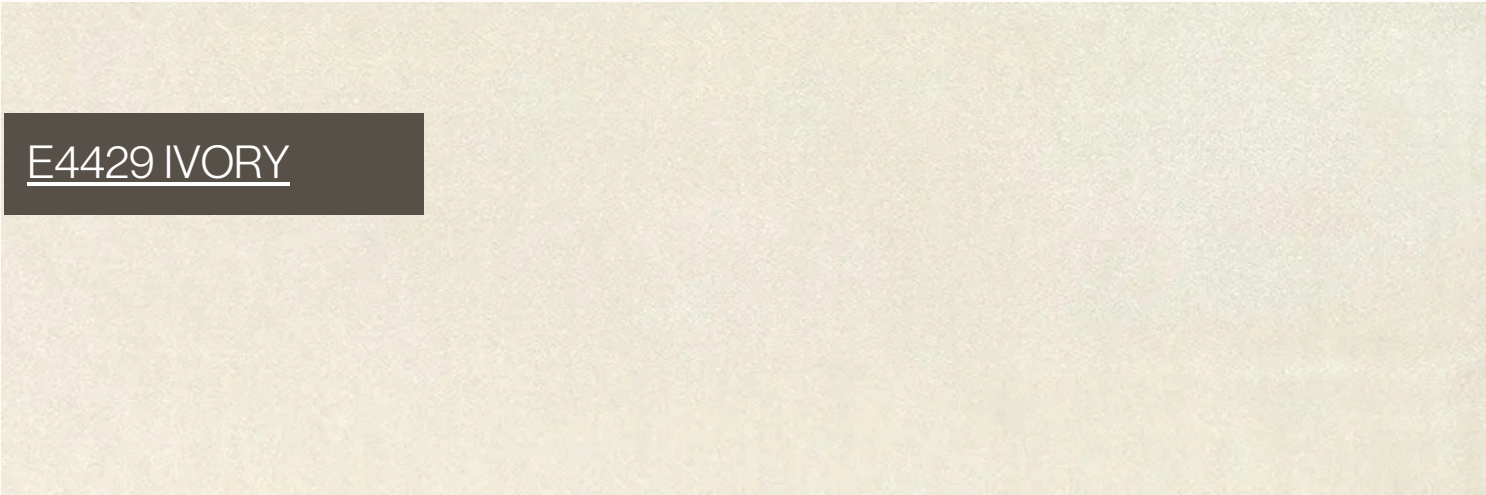

E2417 OYSTER

The image displays a complex, abstract pattern with a monochromatic palette of greys, blacks, and whites. The pattern is composed of numerous small, irregular shapes and textures that together create a sense of depth and movement, reminiscent of the surface of an oyster shell. The overall effect is a dense, textured composition.

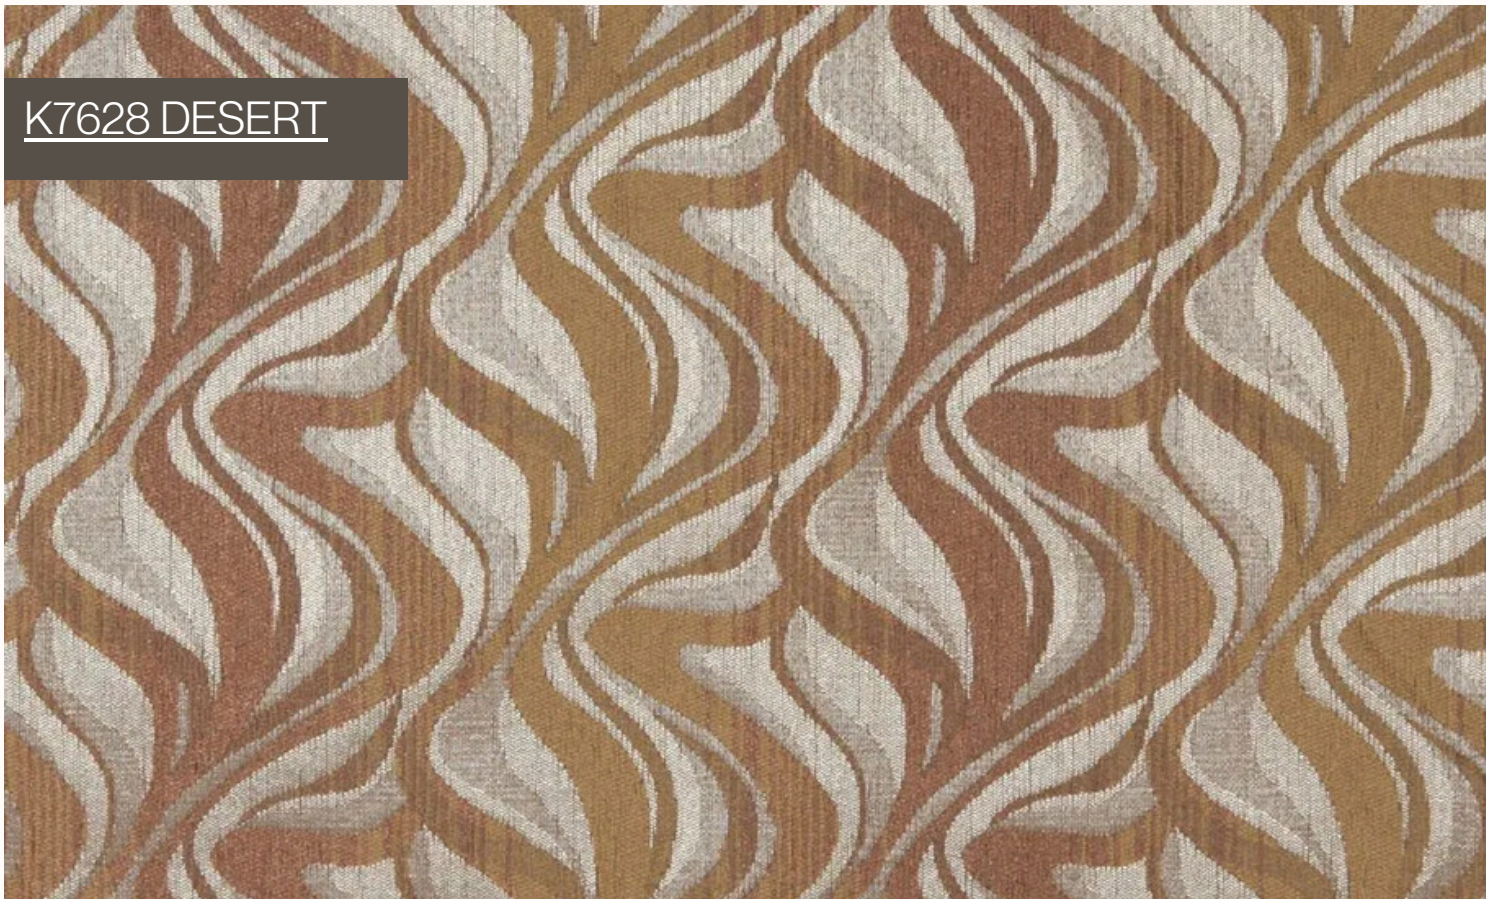

K5336 SAND

The image shows a subtle, abstract pattern with a warm, earthy color palette. The pattern is composed of soft, flowing shapes and textures that create a sense of depth and movement, reminiscent of the surface of sand. The overall effect is a dense, textured composition.

E4429 IVORY

The image displays a subtle, abstract pattern with a warm, earthy color palette. The pattern is composed of soft, flowing shapes and textures that create a sense of depth and movement, reminiscent of the surface of sand. The overall effect is a dense, textured composition.

A close-up view of a fabric with a complex, wavy, and organic pattern. The design features flowing, flame-like or leaf-like shapes in shades of brown, tan, and beige, creating a sense of movement and depth. The pattern is dense and covers the entire surface.

K7628 DESERT

A close-up view of a solid, textured fabric in a rich, warm brown color. The texture appears slightly grainy or woven, giving it a tactile quality. The color is uniform across the entire surface.

K4964 MOCHA

A close-up view of a solid, textured fabric in a muted, greyish-blue color. The texture is similar to the previous one, appearing slightly grainy or woven. The color is uniform across the entire surface.

K4973 PEWTER

Vintage Bench

E6407-1 COIN

K1209 CITRUS

Aimee Swikit
Upholsterer Contributor/
YouTube DIY

K7719 SEAFOAM/MOSAIC

K7721 FERN/MOSAIC

K7722 NECTAR/MOSAIC

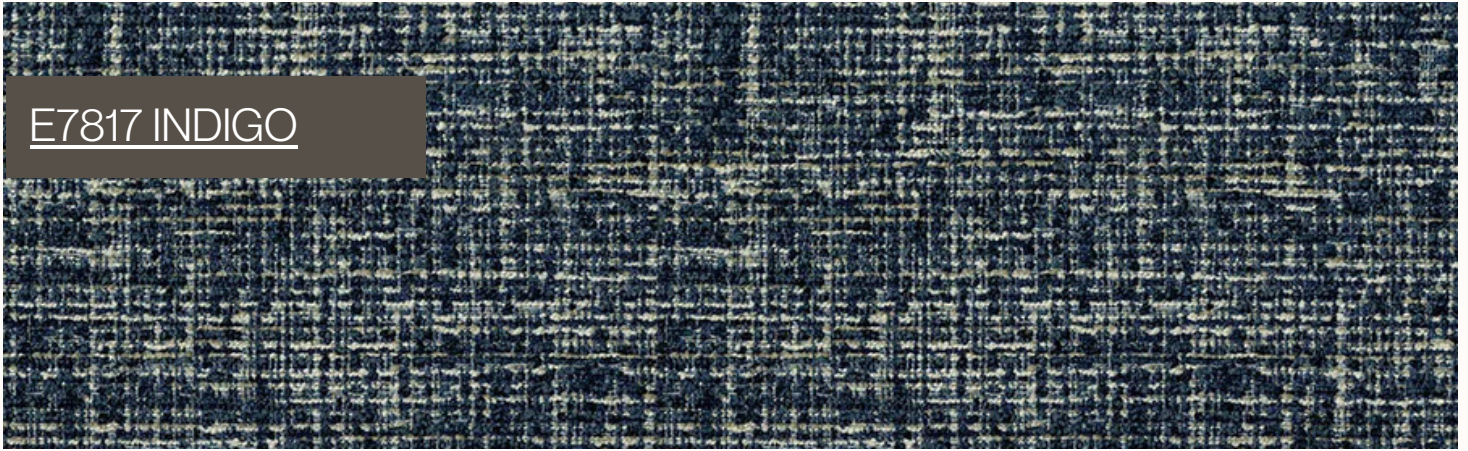

K7710 SAND/MOSAIC

E8012 SPICE

E7817 INDIGO

E7499 WASABI

E2697 LIMESTONE

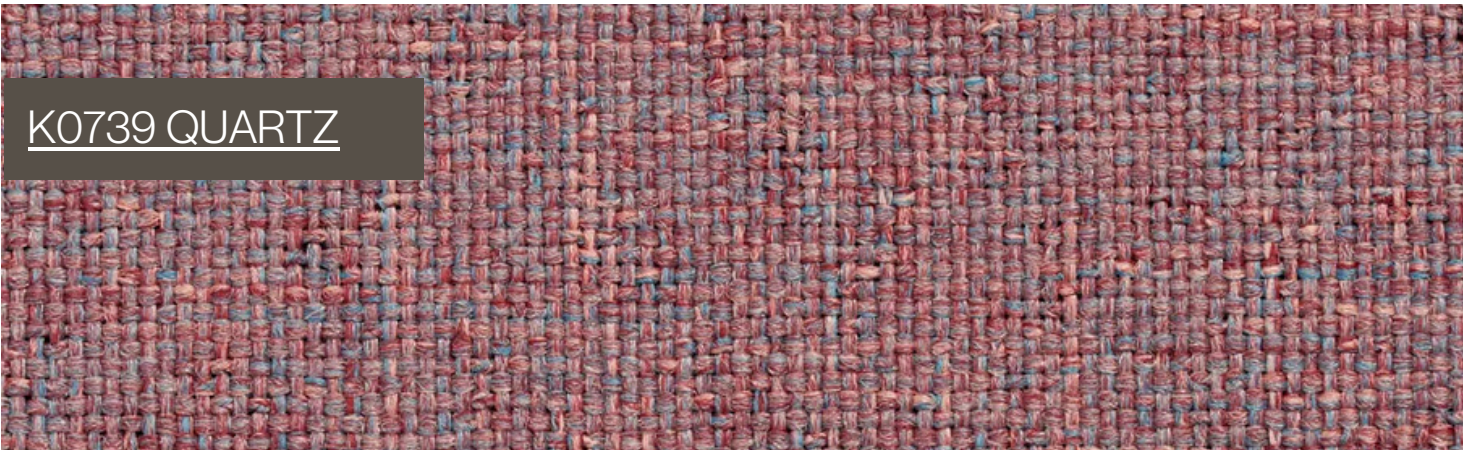

Limestone Cream Solid Woven Textured Jacquard Upholstery Fabric by the Yard

To curate your own collection www.kovifabrics.com

K5112 SAGE

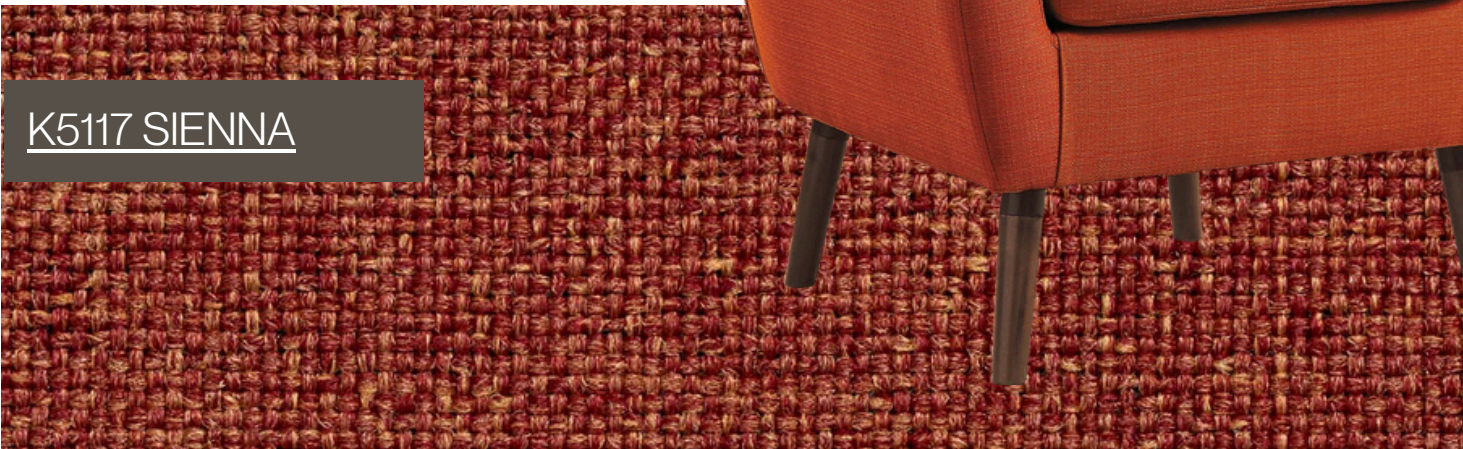

K0739 QUARTZ

K5122 NUGGET

K5117 SIENNA

A NOD TO MOD

HOW TO MASTER MID CENTURY MODERN

We're juuusst about there. The time for opening windows and opening wide for a big satisfying stretch and sigh is nearly here. Spring beckons. And with it the internal pull to reconsider our lives and the spaces in which we live them. To refresh and renew things.

Long a season of discovery (or rediscovery), this spring the design world is looking back to a revived joy and appreciation for mid-century modern design, aka MCM. But, this time, they're looking at it from the perspective of how we live today and how our homes have become much more personal and layered. There's something from back then that's somehow made for us today in the way the colors, sculptural forms, and fabrics combine to ground and, simultaneously, bring spaces to life. This spring, that's got designers reveling in velvet textures, warm muted neutrals, geometric patterns, and more.

Let's move forward by looking back, and learning what the experts think still serves us today — and tomorrow.

This Time, Mid-Century Modern Design Is Warmer And More Livable

One common misconception about MCM is that it's cold and lifeless, not flexible enough to accommodate your unique life. To be fair, that was one of the many forms the style has taken over the years.

From an interior design perspective, in some ways MCM has always had a kind of clarity and utilitarian purpose to everything in it. But today's designers are taking that clarity and using it as a backdrop for adding more personality, and then soften things a bit.

"Mid-century modern was about stripping away unnecessary ornament and really getting to the essence of a design gesture," designer Jonathan Adler explains in Architectural Digest. "That clarity of vision is innately communicative and people love design that speaks to them."

What's new is how our homes now function and support us. So designers are seeing a kind of refreshing intersection where MCM's clean lines intersect with the softness, warmth, and textures now essential in actually living in our homes.

Lauren Saab, of Saab Interiors, tells The Spruce, "What people are leaning toward now is a warmer version of modern," meaning the clean, crispness is present but "mixed with stone, velvet, cane, and handmade finishes."

The Personal Power Of Retro Patterns In The New Mid-Century Vibe

Starting in the pandemic era, our homes changed. In addition to supporting our own personal restoration and evolution, they now tell a story about our journey and our personality. As we learned in pieces like Monique Valeris' in Good Housekeeping, today's home interiors are increasingly defined by "bold patterns that exude personality."

Playfully patterning in small ways and large has become another way of adding texture and substance to our stories. Mid-century modern's embrace of textures and patterns, like geometric patterns, suits that trend perfectly.

Like many design strategies, with just a little intention, geometric patterns introduced through upholstered furniture and decorative flourishes serve as either an anchor and/or a personal expression. Designer Zoe Feldman shares with Better Homes & Gardens that "patterns bring soul, story, and

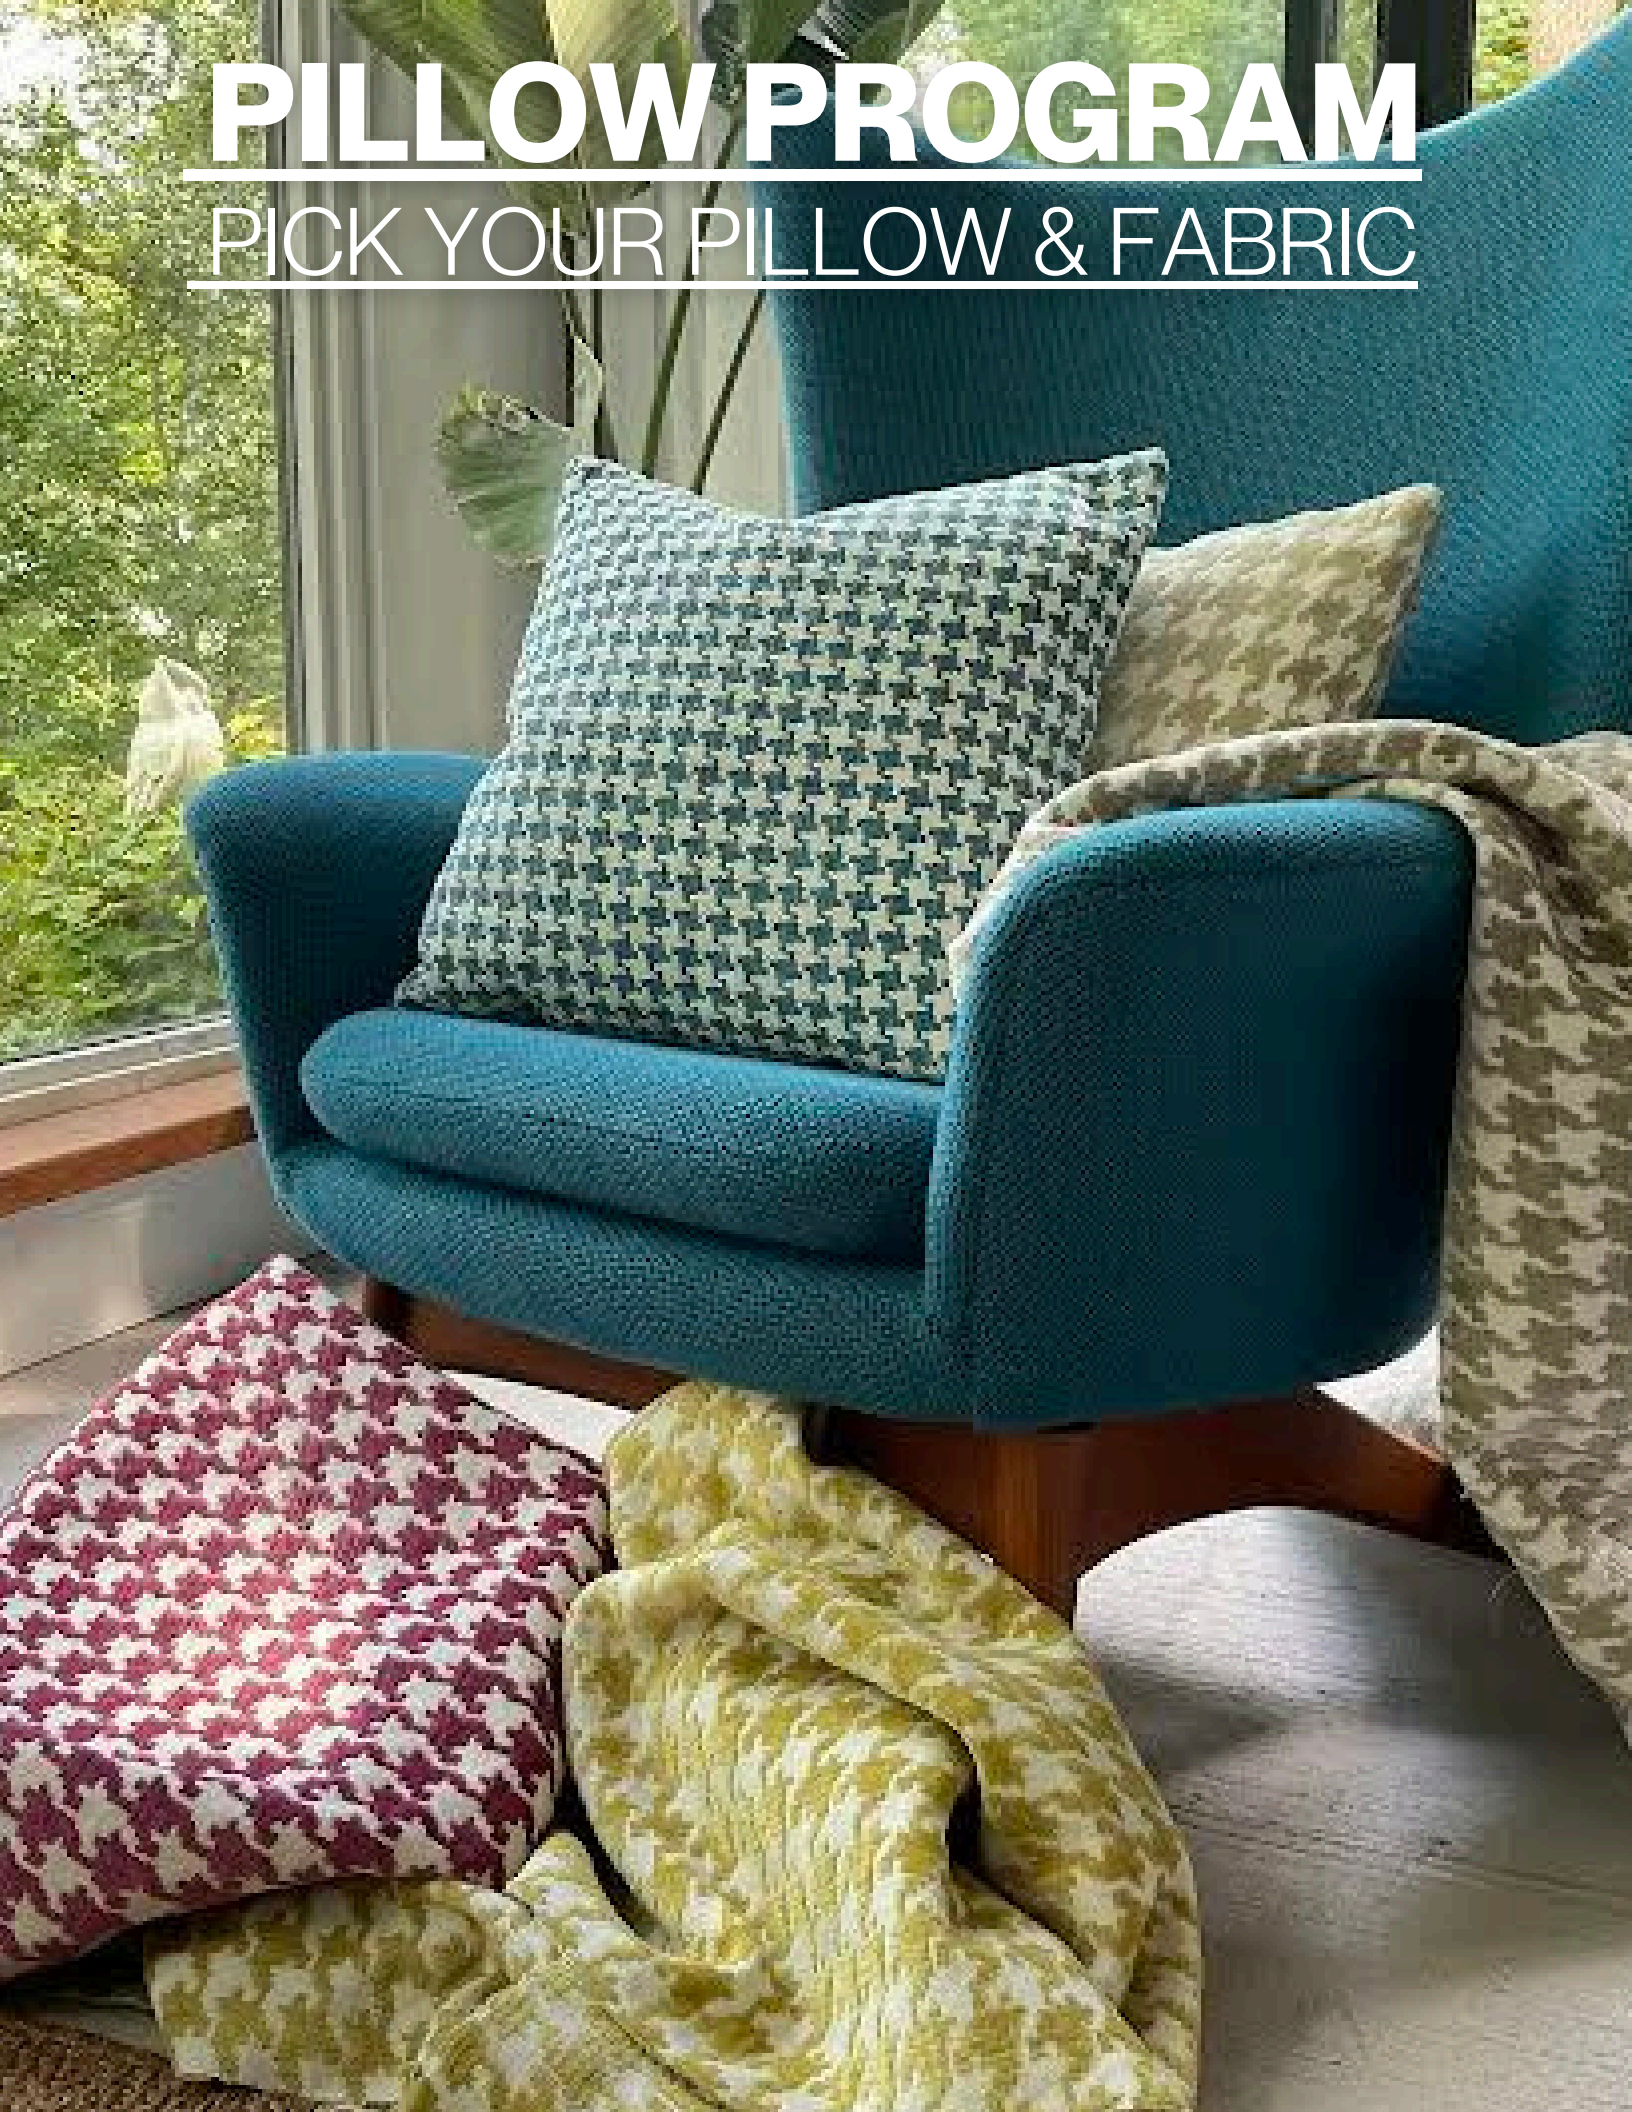

READ FULL ARTICLE

Brian Perry
Magazine Contributor/
Blog Writer

PILLOW PROGRAM

PICK YOUR PILLOW & FABRIC

CUSTOMER PHOTOS

DIY DONE & DONE!

FURNITURE FINDER

Whether you are looking to upholster an existing piece of furniture or are looking for a new piece to tackle, these websites are a great resource to buy, sell and/or resell.

1. Facebook Marketplace

2. Apartment Therapy Bazaar

3. 1stDibs

4. AptDeco

5. Etsy

6. Craigslist

7. One Kings Lane

8. Amazon

9. Everything But The House

10. Chairish

SWATCH PROGRAM

Request a swatch before you buy*

*Small cut cost but will be deducted from your final purchase

Premier Designer Upholstery Fabric
Fabrics | Faux Leathers | Genuine Leathers

WWW.KOVIFABRICS.COM